

Transformation of body, mind, spirit and wealth

Sacred.

It's more than just a word to describe how important life is to me now. It is a mission, my raison d'être to acknowledge a person's sacredness, and her connection to God, Source, Universe. In this acknowledgment, I hope that you recognize and acknowledge that too - you are sacred.

And today, I ask you, my friend,

How do you speak to yourself as a sacred being?

How do you treat your body?

If your body could speak to you, what would it say?

Are you listening to the sacred vessel that carries your soul?

I was at my lowest when the pandemic hit, and I did not know where to begin to pick myself up. Then I was introduced to Reiki, a Japanese technique for energy healing. It was my first meaningful step into learning to love myself.

But still, there would be moments when I look at myself in the mirror and feel so heavy and uncomfortable, unable to move freely. I got used to feeling discomfort in my gut after most meals.

It took my body screaming at me with consistent inflammation and one leg going numb for me to finally admit there's gotta to be a better way to love my body -

The physical self deserves to be flooded with pure and premium nutrients, just as I have been cleansing my mind and soul.

I have done every diet and cleanse in the past, with and without supplements. This time, I searched for ethically grown, organic, unadulterated solutions. And soon, with the support of loving friends, I started an "Ultimate Lifestyle Transformation" in January. To mark this commitment, I called it my 30-day Reset. I am just bursting with joy with the results of this reset.

I lost 10 pounds, I became WAY more in tune with my body's signals. For instance, one bite of something she doesn't like, she can let me know now -and I hear her!

My left leg has begun itching which leads me to believe the inflammation is lessened.

And my hair (which was thinning) is noticeably healthier as well as my skin which I keep getting complimented on despite my fast approaching 41st birthday.

Beyond that, I have already 6x'd my original investment, and my vision of a communal property and a Red on Red hybrid truck are suddenly within reach.

If you have been quietly praying for an upgrade in your health and wealth, I feel you. Health and wealth are usually at the bottom of our priorities as artists.

I never dreamed of sharing health products as a stream of income. I had to move beyond my ego that says that if I share this, some of you might think I have failed as an artist and Sacred Artistry Coach.

But I am only winning!

The "elixir of life"

I will share my story of what this "elixir of life" has done for me, my body and my bank account. This could very well be the first step to transform your life.

I share this with you because it's like spreading the good news.

I share this with you because it is loving on you.

I share this with you because ultimately my raison d'être is supporting you in being the best creative possible, which includes reclaiming your body, mind, spirit, and wealth.

I'm looking to build my team of vision builders.

I'm looking for those of you committed to transforming your scarcity story, ready to tap into the abundance we deserve.

I'm looking for like-minded go-getters who are ready to see big checks in their bank accounts and in their self-love accounts.

Would you like to transform your body, mind, spirit and wealth?

You're invited to hear my story on Thursday, March 24, 1pm PST. RSVP by clicking below so we can send the zoom link .

Hell ya, I'll be there!

Can't make it on that day, but tell me more!

I am not interested, please don't send me info about this

See you soon!

With much power and love ♥
